Denver, Colo.—Feb. 24, 2009—

On Friday, February 20, Spectrum Human Resource Systems Corp. took the crown in HRchitect's Mid-Market HRIS Beauty Pageant webinar, beating out contenders NuView Systems, Inc., Salary.com, Inc., and PDS.

The webinar was the latest in HRchitect's beauty pageant webinar series, which pits industry-leading technology providers against each other for the votes of webinar attendees. Spectrum won over the attendees with a presentation of its latest HRIS, the revolutionary iVantage® 5.0.

In her presentation, Spectrum President and CEO Sybll Romley outlined what she feels separates Spectrum from its competitors. She said that HR professionals creating HR systems translates into better HR products and services.

"It was an honor to win because all of the contestants are strong players in this market," said Romley. "And to be recognized by HR professionals confirms our belief that potential customers value our dedication to HR."

iVantage 5.0 offers flexibility, customization and ease of use unlike any other HR system to date. With Spectrum's exceptional service and cutting-edge technology, the company provides an HRIS experience never seen before.

According to HRchitect, the beauty pageant series has created a buzz in the HR industry since its first webinar last November. Each pageant focuses on a different area of HR technology and provides a venue for webinar attendees to learn about several industry leaders and their products in a "fun and informative format."
